Osimo, 5-10 September

Osimo is rich of history, a history of about 3,000 years that left us a precious legacy: artifacts and archaeological sites, artworks and buildings of important and noble patrons. Re-experience the past and the events of different peoples and personalities linked together in a unique town.

Osimo hides lot of mysteries in its underground labyrinth. Discover an unusual underground world, full of wells and tunnels carved in the sandstone from the hands of the man who, for centuries, uses it to defend itself and to meet in secret, as shown by the arcane symbols on the wall.

Osimo surprises you at every corner. Get lost among the narrow streets that unfold from the main street, you can suddenly find in front of you a wonderful panoramic view that sweeps from the Sibillini Mountains to the rolling green hills, to the blue sea of Riviera del Conero.

Many are the Monuments, among which the Cantinone Caves, the Piazza Dante Caves, the Simonetti Caves the Riccioni Caves and the Archaeological Museum.

Climbing down the stone stairs from the mononym street we arrive in a place where the silence is interrupt only by the water noise. Surrounded by green mosses and small ferns, you will see the ancient Fonte Magna, a Roman nymphaeum dating from the first century B.C. called in this way because of its size and the most important source of the area. It's told that Pompeo Magno's horses had drunk there during a short stop in the city for recruiting soldiers to employ against Cesar during the civil wars.

“TEATRO LA NUOVA FENICE”

It's one of the most beautiful historic theatre in Le Marche region. It was built in neoclassic style over the ruins of an ancient theatre. The architect Gaetano Canedi in fact from 1877, assiduously worked here to make reborn The Phoenix.

In September 1894, The New Phoenix was inaugurated with the representation of Carmen of Bizet. The inside in horseshoe, is characterized by artistic decorations of 800 and he develops in three order's stages and the gods can host 444 people, over 500 in total. On the stage stand out the colors of the beautiful historic curtain, painted by Alfonso Goldini and recently restored.
